WOODMEN OF THE WORLD

Decorate the Graves of Their Deceased Sovereigns—Rev. Elgin Makes Appropriate Address

The Woodmen of the World on last Sunday afternoon decorated the graves of Sovereigns W. T. Carloss and Thomas Morgan, as an honor to their memory and to express a brotherly reverence for their worth.

The Woodmen formed a line of march at their Camp and headed by the Silver Corner Band, of Marion, followed by a large number of Woodmen, marched to the cemetery, where a large crowd of people had assembled to witness the ceremonies. The Woodmen formed a "wedge" about the graves of Sovereigns Carloss and Morgan and when the Band and Sovereigns had assembled about the grave, Rev. Virgil Elgin, who had been asked by Rosewood Camp No. 22, of Marion, only a few minutes before the Woodmen started to the cemetery, to speak, generously responded with an able address, in which he explained the object of the services and the charitable, benevolent custom of the Woodmen in decorating the graves of their deceased sovereigns once each year. The address of Rev. Elgin was listened to with much pleasure by the large audience. After Rev. Elgin had finished his delightful and able talk upon the objects and lessons of Woodcraft and while the Band played a piece of sacred music, the sovereigns left their places in the "wedge" and placed their emblem of remembrance, flowers, upon the graves of Sovereigns Carloss and Morgan.

The Woodmen ceremonies were very beautiful and most appropriate. The Band furnished music on the way to and from the cemetery.

There was quite a crowd witnessed the decorating services of the Woodmen and each and every person expressed themselves as being proud of the fact Marion possessed a Band that could render such appropriate and delightful music for such an occasion and the people who were fortunate enough to attend the services at the grave, expressed their high appreciation of the fact that in Marion there was a band of fraternal brothers who did not forget their dead brothers but with suitable ceremonies visited their graves and with their emblems of remembrance, keep alive the teachings of their order.

Strawberries for Fourth of July.

Fresh home-grown strawberries were delivered by Will Adams, the champion berry grower of the county, to a few of his "high particular" friends for "Fourth of July" dinner today. This is the latest strawberries we have ever heard of in this section and is the result of a second growth crop which came on his vines on which the first crop had been killed by freeze, while in bloom.

The case is very unusual and is almost a freak of nature or else mother nature just wanted to favor Mr. Adams a little, for his extra exertions on strawberries. You know there is a saying that "God helps him who helps himself."

Arrived Home Safely.

C. S. Knight, President of the Marion Zinc Co., who suffered a slight stroke of paralysis on his left side a few weeks ago and who was also troubled with rheumatism, had so far recovered as to be able to return to his home in Ft. Wayne, Ind.

He left here Monday night on the 10:15 train going direct to Chicago where connection was had with the Pullman Vestibule Sleeper direct to Ft. Wayne, only one change being made and that in the depot at Chicago.

A. R. HUGHES,
R. F. D. No. 4, Marion, Ky.

Mr. Knight was accompanied by his son, W. C. Knight, of St. Louis, his daughter, Mrs. Peters, of Ft. Wayne, a trained nurse, from Evansville and his valet, Hilman Calvert, colored, of this city. The RECORD-PRESS hopes the change will be beneficial to Mr. Knight and when once under his own roof, where loving hands and hearts can minister to his every wish and necessity, he will rapidly recuperate and soon again be looking after his immense interests in this, Livingston and Caldwell counties.

Dr. A. J. Driskill received a long distance message from Ft. Wayne, Ind., Wednesday morning announcing the safe arrival at his home, of Mr. Knight and his party.

An Elegant Breakfast.

Covers were laid for fourteen guests at the residence of Mrs. S. M. Jenkins at breakfast on Friday morning of last week in compliment to Miss Muh, of Jackson, Miss.

At eleven o'clock the guests were ushered to the dining room where a charming color scheme of pink and green was carried out in decorations of smilax and sweet peas. The place cards were hand painted in handsome designs of pink carnations tied with green ribbon.

Just as the guests were seated the arrival of Miss Muh was announced. The lady who entered created quite an excitement and was a perfect astonishment to the assembled guests. Instead of a beautiful young lady as they had anticipated behold a large buxom lady entered with all the grace and dignity of a woman of rank. What a marvelous thrill of humor prevailed the happy circle when they were brought to recognize the fact that it was Mr. Jenkins masquerading as the absent guest.

The breakfast was elegantly served in six courses, as follows:

Peaches and cream, creamed shrimps, broiled chicken on toast, asparagus in timbales, peas, frozen cherry frappe, fruit salad, brouleau and cake.

The guests were: Mesdames O. M. James, J. W. Wilson, Chas. Moore, Levi Cook, Misses Blanche Haase, Fannie and Kitty Gray Fannie Woods, Inez Price. The out-of-town guests were Mesdames Peters, of Ft. Wayne, Ind., J. L. Grayot, of Princeton, Misses Merchant, of Brunswick, Mo., and Emma Scott, of Frankfort.

Those who breakfasted declared it to be one of the most superb and charming social affairs of the season. The delightful menu, the unexpected surprise, and the cheerful associations will impress the page of memory with joy and delight.

A GUEST.

Marion Boys Defeated.

Last Friday afternoon the Fredonia and Wilson Steam Laundry teams crossed bats on the latter's diamond in this city. Up to and at the close of the fourth inning Marion boys had run in three scores and shut Fredonia out. During the fifth inning the Fredonia boys run in seven scores, this put our boys "up in the air" so they made only one more score. The score stood fifteen to seven in favor of Fredonia at the close.

This was the laundry boys second effort and they played good ball to have practiced so little. Quite a number of "rooters" accompanied the visiting team, perhaps that is why they did such good playing. However, our boys are ever backed with an enthusiastic crowd of spectators.

For Sale.

LOUISVILLE'S NEW MAYOR

Robert Worth Bingham Appointed Mayor of Louisville Last Week—Stockholder in Crittenden Co. Mines.

Governor Beckham last week appointed Robert Worth Bingham Mayor of Louisville to fill out the term of Paul C. Barth, who lost his office by a recent decision of the Court of Appeals. Mayor Bingham is well known to many of our people, having made frequent visits here to look after his mining interests. He came here first with Mr. R. D. Dresher and became interested in the Columbia Mining Co. Later he was elected a director in the Southern Lead and Zinc Co., being one of the promoters and largest stockholders in that company. Of him the "Louisville Evening Post" said the day after his appointment:

"Robert Worth Bingham is a North Carolinian by birth, his natal city being Asheville. He is in the prime of manhood, being thirty-six years of age. His early education was received in a military school at Asheville, of which his father is commandant. He later graduated with high honors from the University of North Carolina, and took a post-graduate course in the University of Virginia.

"Returning to his home, he became an instructor in his father's school, an institution that was founded by his great-grandfather in 1793. For four years he occupied the chair of Ancient Language.

"He married Miss Eleanor Miller, a daughter of Samuel A. Miller, of Louisville, in May 1896 and removing to this city matriculated in the Law Department of the University of Louisville, taking both courses in one year and graduating high in the class.

"Mr. Bingham entered the law office of J. T. O'Neal in 1879 and continued to practice in his chosen profession in that connection until 1900, when he founded a partnership with W. W. Davis, his present associate, under the firm name of Bingham & Davis.

"The vacancy in the office of County Attorney, caused by Samuel B. Kirby becoming Judge of the Chancery Court, Second Division, was filled by the appointment of Mr. Bingham. This was in January 1904. In the fall he was re-elected to fill out the remainder of the term and in 1905, was his own successor in the office.

"During the recent lid agitation, Mr. Bingham was chosen by the Governor to carry out his Sunday closing policy after the regular authorities had proven their inability to do so. His last act in his official capacity as County Attorney was the exposing of the alleged irregularities in the contracts for the Courthouse."

Circuit Court Adjourned.

Circuit court adjourned Tuesday afternoon, with the following cases disposed of:

Com'th. vs Lee Salyers, fined $20. Same vs Charley Bennett, fined $50. Same vs Charley Rice, dismissed. Same vs Ben Capps, fined $20. Same vs same, dismissed. Same vs John Brantley, fined $5. Same vs Frank Young and Cecil Baker, fined $5. Same vs Joe Dollar, dismissed. Same vs Ed Rutter, three years in penitentiary.

CHURCH NOTES.

The sermon at the Presbyterian church last Sunday morning was on Rom. 11:34, "For who has known the mind of God?" The last four verses of this chapter are a brief comment that the apostle Paul makes on the exposition of the doctrines Christianity. He describes the mind of God as deep, unsearchable, unchangeable, and that all of God's works are for his glory.

The sermon at night was based on Math. 27:22, "What shall I do with Jesus which is called the Christ?"

The Communion of the Lord's Supper will be observed at the Presbyterian church next Sunday. Preparatory services will be held Friday night at 8 o'clock, and Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock. The members of the church are urged to be present, and friends are cordially invited to attend these services.

Mr. G. H. Turpin, of Clarksville, Tenn., has charge of the Presbyterian church at Tolu. He will preach at Forest Grove two Sundays each month. Next Sunday he will preach at Forest Grove.

Mr. Hoffman, a theological student spent a few days with Mr. Turpin at Tolu and preached for him at Forest Grove last Sunday. Mr. Hoffman will spend his summer vacation at Owingsville, Ky.

Stone-Owen.

Cleveland Stone and Miss Hazel Owen, of this place, took their friends on surprise when they eloped to Shawneetown Saturday night and were married. They returned Sunday evening and have been receiving congratulations.

The bride is an intelligent and industrious young man has a position in the Journal office. He is a son of H. S. Stone, formerly of this place but now of Hopkinsville.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Frank Owen, one of our rural carriers. She is a pretty and industrious young lady and we see no reason why the happy pair should not have a prosperous voyage thru life. Their many friends, including the Journal, wishes as much for them—Dixon Journal.

Mr. Cleveland Stone and Miss Hazel Owen, of Dixon, eloped to Shawneetown, Ill., last Saturday evening, where they were joined in holy wedlock. They were accompanied on the trip by Mr. and Mrs. Strother Russell. There were parental objection to the match on account of the tender years of the young lady. The groom is assistant foreman in the Dixon Journal and is a popular and worthy young man.—Providence Enterprise.

Mr. Stone is well and favorably known here, he was employed several months on The Crittenden Record. His many friends here congratulate him on the step he has taken and the young lady on winning a kind industrious husband.

Reception.

Thursday evening, June 27, at her home on College Street Mrs. R. F. Haynes, gave a reception in honor of her charming guests, the Misses Scott, of Frankfort. The hours of receiving were from eight to ten. Those who assisted the hostess were: Misses Scott, Messrs. C. W. Haynes, A. M. Shelby and W. O. Tucker.

The guests were greeted at the door and ushered in by Miss Frances Gray. Mesdames J. W. Wilson, S. M. Jenkins, J. H. Orne, W. O. Tucker; Misses Sallie Woods and Gwendoline Haynes furnished the music, which was very sweet, during the evening.

Miss Lillie Cook presided at the punch bowl and Misses Mary Coffield Marion Clement and Gwendoline Haynes served the refreshments, which consisted of ices, ice cream and cake.

The house was beautifully decorated with sweet peas and the lawn illuminated with many Japanese lanterns.

From ten to twelve the guests enjoyed many pleasant games of chess. Everyone was loath to leave and all voted Mrs. Haynes a charming hostess.

located near the depot, is one of the best in the district. It is well worth a visit of inspection to any one interested in mining.

The Edwards Mining Co. will sink its shaft to a depth of 200 feet. It is now down 75 feet and the remaining 125 feet will be sunk as rapidly as possible. This company recently completed a fine lake, covering several acres, the water to supply the washers and run the other machinery at the mines near Crittenden Springs and is also preparing to add new engines and boilers.

Phillips-James.

Wednesday evening June 26, 1907 Mr. Reed Phillips and Miss Ada James, the attractive young daughter of Dr. H. A. James, were married at the home of Elder W. F. Paris where they had repaired to have the ceremony said by that eminent divine.

The groom is a son of the late Hie Phillips, a grandson of Piney Frank Wilson, and is a brother of Miss Iva Phillips, of this city.

The bride is also highly connected being related to many of the county's best people. The best wishes of many friends go with them in their married life.

Finger Cut Off.

Rudell, the little three-year-old daughter of Mrs. Dixie Franklin, met with a serious accident last Friday afternoon. While playing with a lawn mower at the home of A. H. Travis her little finger was cut off. Dr. Dixon was called and sewed the finger back to its place, although he had little hope of saving it.

Wednesday morning when the wound was examined, it was found necessary to amputate the finger at the knuckle joint, and this was successfully done, and the little sufferer is getting along alright.

Infant of Rev. and Mrs. Conway Dead.

Russell Dixon, infant son of Rev. and Mrs. T. A. Conway, died Monday evening at 7:35 o'clock, after an illness of only a week, aged five months and one day. The interment took place Tuesday afternoon at the new cemetery, Rev. J. H. Butler, officiating.

Lectured at the Auditorium.

Mrs. E. J. Sheeks lectured Tuesday night to a small audience at the school auditorium. On account of the Sunday School Convention which drew large crowds from the city, Mrs. Sheeks' engagement was not generally known and hence her small audience.

Wednesday she visited W. A. Deboe, her brother, at Blackford.

Mrs. Sheeks will lecture at Crayneville next Sunday and as she is well known there and a fluent talker she will no doubt have a good crowd out to hear her.

CARTWRITH'S EXPERIENCE

Leaves on Record His experience With a Wicked Woman—Tells How She Caught Him.

Hardly a reader of these columns that has not heard of "Peter Cartwrith," one of the first preachers of the "Dark and Bloody Ground." We give below one among his many experiences with the uncultured people of his day.

This preacher was a good man and a useful preacher, his wife was directly the reverse in almost everything that was good, save she was believed to be virtuous. She was high tempered, over-bearing, quarrelsome and a violent opposer of religion. She would not fix her husband's clothes for him to go out and preach and was unwilling he should ask a blessing at his table or pray in the family and when he would attempt to pray she would not conform, but would tear around and make all the noise and disturbance in her power. She would turn over chairs while he was reading and singing, or praying and if she could not stop him any other way, she would catch a cat and throw it in his face while he was kneeling to pray.

Poor little man, surely he was tormented almost to desperation.

He had invited several preachers home with him to talk with her and see if they could not moderate her, but all to no purpose, she would curse them to their face and rage like a demon. He had insisted on my going home with several times, but I frankly confess I was afraid. I pitied him from my very heart, and so did everybody else that knew him. But at last I yielded to his importunities and went home with him one evening intending to stay all night. After we had arrived I saw in a minute that she was mad; the devil was in her as large as an alligator and I fixed my purpose and determined on my course. After supper he said to her very kindly: "Come wife, stop your little affairs and let us have prayer." At that moment she boiled over and said:

"I will have none of your praying about me."

I spoke to her kindly and expostulated with her and tried to reason, but no, the farther I went the more wrathful she became and she cursed me most bitterly. I then put on a stern countenance and said to her, "Madam, if you were a wife of mine I would break you of your bad ways or break your neck."

"The devil you would," said she, "and you are pretty Christian, ain't you?"

And such a volley of curses as she poured forth on me was almost beyond endurance. Be still, said I, we must, and we will, have prayer. But she declared we should not. Now, said I to her, if you do not be still and behave yourself I'll put you out of doors. At this she clinched her fists and swore she was one-half alligator and the other one-half snapping turtle and that it would take a better man than I was to put her out. It was a small cabin we were in and we were not far from the door, which was standing open. I caught her by the arm and swinging her around in a circle, brought her right up to the door and shoved her out. She jumped up, tore her hair, foamed and such swearing as she uttered was seldom equaled, and never surpassed.

The door, or shutter of the door, was very strong, made to keep out

For Lung Troubles

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral certainly cures coughs, colds, bronchitis, consumption. And it certainly strengthens weak throats and weak lungs. There can be no mistake about this. You know it is true. And your own doctor will say so.

"My little boy had a terrible cough. I tried everything I could hear of but in vain until I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. The first night he was better, and he steadily improved until he was perfectly well." — Mrs. S. J. STEELE, Akron, Ohio.

MYSTERY OF THE NILE

How Water in the Historic River Is Regulating the Harvest.

Every morning from a little room of a great white house on the eastern shore of the Nile, at Assuan, is clicked by telegraph to Cairo the question, "How much water?" The answer comes, so many thousand gallons more, or so many thousand gallons less. A button is pressed, the water which flows under the iron bridge at Cairo is increased or diminished some ten days later in accordance with the telegraphic answer, and the intervening valley between Assuan and Cairo has a little more or a little less water on its surface. The man at the button may bring joy or sorrow to thousands of little farms—it is all according to the message he receives.

From the great white house there extends across the river a granite wall or dam 150 feet high. Half way up this wall, and stretching its entire length, a line of shutters open or close by a pressure of the button. In the winter months a huge lake expands to the southward, which has every appearance of being a flood, for in certain places, the tops of palm trees are discernable above its surface, and the summits of inundated ruins apparently mark the site of sunken cities. As the days go by and Cairo demands more and more water, the palm trees and the ruins seem to rise from their watery beds, until, in June and early July, the river flows freely with all its historic indolence.

Still the cry for water is unsatisfactory, and now the 150 feet of granite wall will be lengthened by 23 feet, which will double the power of the man at the button, and after that no more palms or ruins will unfold themselves, as the hot months come, from the surface of the lake. The palm trees will not be missed, but what of the ruins? That is the tribute of the past which modern agricultural Egypt is called upon to pay.

Just south of the granite wall is the island which holds the amphibious ruins. Twenty-three feet of granite now stand between it and oblivion. It is named Philae, and is the burial place of Osiris. A temple of 14 columns rises on its Obituary.

The death angel has visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Binklo and made it sad and lonely by taking away their sweet little Rob, who was the joy and comfort of their home.

Robert James Binklo was born September 18, 1905, and died June 16, 1907. He was an intelligent, lovable little fellow and a favorite with all who knew him. He had just begun to say those precious, sweet words, "papa and mamma." But that sweet little voice is still and the noisy little feet will be heard no more in this land of sorrow. He had the terrible disease, flux and all that could be done by a faithful physician, fond parents and loving friends was done, but of no avail, it was the Lord's will to take him home to that bright world above to live with God and the angels.

Dear father and mother you can say as David said, "he can not return to but you can go to him" and Jesus said, "suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not for of such is the kingdom of heaven."

Little Rob was tenderly laid to rest in the Tyners Chappel cemetery to await the resurrection and when the trumpet of God shall sound, then he will rise clothed with all the beauties of glory and he, with all the redeemed of the Lord, shall be caught to meet the Lord in the air, so shall we ever be with him. So weep not as those who have no hope.

Dear father and mother bow in humble submission to Him who doth all things well, be faithful and it won't be long till you will meet your precious loved one in heaven, where diseases and death never come and where we will never say good bye.

RICE SCARES TEAM

BITES OF BY-PLAY

Girl Pinned Between Door and Carriage Is Dragged by Horses and Badly Hurt

New York, June 29.—Guests at the wedding yesterday afternoon of Miss Josephine Heine and Frederick Dawson gathered around to congratulate the couple as they were the home of the bride's parents at No. 495 West Twenty-third street, West New York.

"May good luck always attend you!" cried the guests as the pair walked to the gaily-decorated carriage. The coachman stood at the carriage door, leaving the horses, a mettlesome team unattended. As the bride's foot was on the step part of a shower of rice and old slippers intended for her struck the horses and they leaped forward as if struck with a lash.

The bride was caught between the door and the carriage and dragged for a dozen yards before she fell unconscious. Her leg was broken in two places, her body bruised and her pretty gown sadly torn. Dawson, well-nigh heartbroken, raised her in his arms and carried her into the house.

Henry Dawson, the father, was near the horses' heads when they bolted. In the excitement of the moment he thought his son's bride had entered the carriage and that her life perhaps depended upon his stopping the team. He clung to the headstalls and was dragged for half a block before his strength was exhausted. The wedding guests found him painfully cut and bruised and assisted him to the house.

The team ran to Hudson Boulevard and thence a mile and a half to Plum street, in Iron Hill, where the carriage valued at $1,000, crashed against a telephone pole and was totally wrecked.

The First Requisite of Beauty.

The first requisite of beauty is a clear complexion. Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup clears a sallow bloated complexion as it stimulates the liver and bowels, and the eyes become bright and clear. You owe it to your friends to take it if your complexion is bad. Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup does not nauseate or gripe and is very pleasant to take. Refuse substitutes. J. H. Orme.

Coal in England.

Coal has been reached at a depth of 1,321 feet in Lord Londonberry's new colliery at Seaham harbor, in England, after a remarkable engineering feat. Owing to the presence of enormous quantities of water, forming a quicksand, it was found necessary to freeze the ground to a depth of nearly 500 feet. Twenty-eight holes were bored in a circle about the shaft to a depth of 484 ft. and freezing tubes were inserted. Brine was the medium used to extract the heat from the strata. The length of time required to form a wall of ice was 185 days, the wall being maintained for 253 days. In the shaft bottom the frozen sand was so hard that it could only be penetrated by blasting.

Cured of Lung Trouble.

"It is now eleven years since I had a narrow escape from consumption," writes C. O. Floyd, a leading business man of Kershaw, S. C. "I had run down in weight to 135 pounds, and coughing was constant, both by day and by night. Finally I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery, and continued this for about six months, when my cough and lung trouble were entirely gone and I was restored to my normal weight, 170 pounds." Thousands of persons are healed every year. Guaranteed at J. H. Orme's drug store 50¢ and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

A $5,000,000 Bequest.

London, June 27.—The will of Daniel Osiris, the Jewish banker and philanthropist of Paris, who died some time ago, leaves $5,000,000 to the Pasteur Institute. The estate is valued at $13,000,000.

Notice to Our Customers.

We are pleased to announce that Foley's Honey and Tar for coughs, colds and lung troubles is not affected by the National Pure Food and Drug law as it contains no opiates or other harmful drugs, and we recommend it as a safe remedy for children and adults. Sold by J. H. Orme.

"Cut it Out"

says many a doctor to his lady patients, because he doesn't know of any medicine that will cure female troubles except the surgeon's knife.

That such a medicine exists, however, is proved by thousands of cures made by Failed.

All efforts have failed to find a better remedy for coughs, colds and lung troubles than Foley's Honey and Tar. It stops the cough, heals the lungs and prevents serious results from a cold. J. N. Patterson, Nashua, Iowa, writes: "Last winter I had a bad cold on my lungs and tried at least half a dozen advertised cough medicines and had treatment from two physicians without getting any benefit. A friend recommended Foley's Honey and Tar and two thirds of a bottle cured me. I consider it the greatest cough and lung medicine in the world." Sold by J. H. Orme.

Pearl Found in Fish Eye

Shelbyville, Ind., June 29.—A fish with an eye of pearl, fabulons as the assertion may seem, was caught here by Peter Cummins in a well known fishing place in Brandywine creek. The prodigy of the finny tribe had lost, by some freak, its left eye. The socket was there, but the eye which had rested therein was absolutely solid. When abstracted from its resting place and submitted to the blows of a light hammer, it was found to be as hard as stone. By experienced fishermen it is said that it is a genuine pearl, such as are found in river mussels of a peculiar kind.

WORMS

All children complain frequently of headaches, backaches, that "their stomachs hurt," and that they "don't feel good."

This condition is a common one and the trouble is almost invariably due to pin worms.

Children haven't the strength to combat their ills and indispositions without the aid of some reliable medicine.

Dr. Caldwell's (Laxative)

is an unfailing, harmless and absolute cure for worms, stomach and bowel troubles, and can be used as freely for either baby or the bigger child, as for full grown folks.

If your child seems indisposed, feverish, fretful, peevish, and all out of sorts, these are symptoms of worms. One dose of DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN as directed, the dejected condition will soon give way to health and vigor.

DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN can be obtained in both dollar and half-dollar sizes from all druggists.

Your money will be refunded if it does not benefit you.

You too, will request will bring by return mail our new booklet, "DR. CALDWELL'S BOOK OF WONDERS" and free sample to those who have never tried this wonderful remedy. Write today.

A prominent divine of this city who has travelled extensively, remarked yesterday that the people were letting the weeds get away with the town and that now was a good time for every one to join in a crusade against the obnoxious intruders. If each one would keep his own premises and the walk in front cleared of weeds the looks of the city as well as general health would be better. Cleanliness is next to god-liness, it is said.

THE RECORD-PRESS now has 4000 subscribers, which is equalled by few county papers and exceeded by none. The advertising rates in this are about one-half that charged by other county papers in the Blue Grass section. The enterprises which succeed are those which use the columns of the county paper.
The history of each successful enterprise in Marion will prove this.

The Thoughts of the Fools.

One-third of the fools in this country think they can beat the lawyers in expounding the law; one-half think they can beat the doctors healing the sick; two-thirds of them think they can beat the pastors preaching the gospel, and all of them think they can beat the editor running a newspaper.—Exchange.

Mass Meeting.

A mass meeting, in the interest of the American Society of Equity, is called to meet at the court house in Marion, Saturday, July 13, 1907.

Everybody invited to come and hear the principles of the Society discussed by able speakers.

The county union and the Marion local are requested to meet in Marion on the above date. All locals please send delegates to the county union. A. F. WOOLF, Pres.

Piney Fork Campmeeting.

Our Campmeeting will begin at the old time. Friday, August 9, 1907, at Piney Fork camp ground.
Campmeeting has been held at this place for eighty consecutive years, with only two exceptions.

For the reasons recited in the petition Mr. Meadows claims actual damages in the sum of $50,000 and further pays judgment for $50,000 for all necessary relief.

Card of Thanks.

There are no words for us to express our feelings toward our dear friends and physician, who so tenderly ministered to our little baby boy during his last days.

Christ said: "suffer little children to come unto me, for such is the Kingdom of Heaven" Christ loved the children while on earth, and we know he has taken Russel to himself, and that he is safe in the arms of Jesus--safe on his gentle breast.

But while he lingered here in pain and sickness so many so tenderly ministered unto him, and us, and we shall never fail to hold each and every one in tender remembrance, and our Savior will ever graciously remember you. "Verily I say unto you, inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me."
Yours sincerely,
T. A. CONWAY AND WIFE

Dr. T. T. Eaton Dies.

Louisville, Ky., June 29.—The Rev. Thomas T. Eaton, D. D., pastor of the Walnut street Baptist church, died today at Grand Junction, Tenn., from a stroke of apoplexy.
He was editor of the Western Recorder of this city and had written many books. He was sixty-two years old.

The Smithland Echo says: Miss
Myrtle Bukey, of Bayou, and Mr.
Kuhl, of Florida, were married in Louisville June 26.

Miss Bukey left last Thursday accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Will Lay, of Birsville, on the steamer Peters Lee. They were met in Louisville by Mr. Kuhl and after the marriage Mrs. Lay returned home, but Mr. and Mrs. Kuhl will visit Jamestown, Niagara Falls, Washington and New York before coming to their new home in the sunny south by September 1.

Miss Bukey is well known throughout this country, where she has friends by the score. She has taught school in several different places in the county, and also in Paducah, and will always be remembered for her cheerful sunny nature and kindness of heart. The lucky man, Mr. Kuhl, who has won her heart and hand

comes of a fine old German family, of Pope county, Illinois, and spent his boyhood days near Golconda, Ill.,
where everyone knows and esteems him for his energy and good qualities.

He has a beautiful home amid the orange groves, near the Florida coast.

Mrs. Sayre Entertains.

On Saturday afternoon Mrs. Horace H. Sayre very delightfully entertained a few friends at Five Hundred in honor of the visitors in the city. Delicious refreshments consisting of chocolate bonbons, ice cream and cake were served. The guests were:

Mesdames J. L. Grayot, of Princeton; Peters, of Ft. Wayne; Tom Clifton R. F. Haynes; Misses Kitty and Fanny Gray, Blanche Haase, Emmie and Clara Scott, of Frankfort; Della Barnes, Lillie Cook and Leaffa Wilborn.

Sliger Gives Bond.

Last Thursday the grand jury returned an indictment against Louis
A. Sliger for the murder of Chas.
McMican. On Friday morning he was given a hearing before Judge Gordon to ascertain whether he could be granted bail. After taking the evidence of the defendant and several witnesses the judge fixed the bond at $2500 which he readily filled.

Bride Known Here.

W. H. Brown, the subject of this sketch, was born in Crittenden county Kentucky in 1844, March 31, and died at his home in Boon county
Arkansas April 11, 1907.

He joined the Federal army at the age of 18 years and enlisted in the 48th Infantry in Capt. Heit's Co.
He was captured at Eddyville by Gen. Lyon and paroled. He then joined the 17th Kentucky Cavalry.
He was chosen second Lieutenant in Cap. Vanpelt's company and served until the close of the war.

He then came back to Crittenden county Kentucky and married Miss Lizzie Coram. To this union was born eight children, four boys and four girls, four of his children survive him.

He lived in this county until and remained there until God saw fit in his wisdom to call him away.

He has many friends and relatives here who will regret to here of his death, as he was a resident of this county for a number of years and was well known here and stood high in character with all who knew him.

The writer is in sympathy with his family and bereaved relatives here and I would point them to that great physician, who is our God and who can bind up our broken hearts and heal all our diseases and who has said he would not forsake us in time of trouble.

In the Electrical World.

The smallest electrical motor in the world can be carried in the vest pocket or worn as a watch charm.

The largest electrical motor in the world was recently installed by the General Electric Company for the Indiana Steel Corporation. It is a 6,000 horse power induction motor.

The new tantalum and tungsten lamps, placed on the market within the past few months, have reduced the cost of incandescent lighting one-third for the same amount of light.

About seventy different kinds of electric heating and cooking devices are manufactured to-day for ordinary household use.

The latest and most important step in electrical manufacture is the electrification of steam roads. This promises to be one of the largest branches of the industry.

Thomas A. Edison, the Wizard of Menlo Park, announces that he will cease all hard work for a time and devote his spare moments to "playing" with electricity. The public can look forward to something new nevertheless.

The new luminous are greatly improves the quality and efficiency of the arc lamps. Lamps are made giving as much as 4,000 candle power or nearly five times as much as the ordinary arc lamp.

The very latest in heating devices are the baby milk warmer, combination shaving mug and water heater, and the corn popper.

The new type of electrical automobile does not depend upon a storage battery for power. A small gasoline engine drives a generator, which in turn supplies the electricity for the motors. The new device simplifies the control and improves the service.

Frozen water pipes are now thawed by electricity.

Another late invention is the vertical frequency changer designed to change the frequency of alternating current used for power purposes so it can be used advantageously for lighting. The moving element in these new machines floats on a film of oil in a step bearing the same as in the Curtis vertical steam turbine.

The steam turbine is revolutionizing steam power and cheapening the cost of electricity.

An electrical apparatus for milking cows has been invented.

Shoes can now be shined by electrical power, the carpet can be cleaned by the same force. An electrical device for winding large town clocks has also been placed on the market.

The largest transformers in the world were made for the Great Northern Power Company at Duluth, by the General Electric Company. Three units of 10,000 horse-power each have been installed and five others are to be constructed.

The Right Name.

Mr. August Sherpe, the popular overseer of the poor, at Fort Madison, Ia., says: "Dr. King's New Life Pills, are rightly named; they act more agreeably, do more good and make one feel better than any other laxative." Guaranteed to cure biliousness and constipation. 25¢ at J. H. Orme's drug store.

Young Bookkeepers.

Bookkeepers were never before as hard to find. The unusual prosperity of all business enterprises is directly the cause. Now is the time for young men to get into permanent and paying employment. It takes only six or eight months to learn bookkeeping. The time and the cost are trivial when compared to the results. Full information can be had by writing to the Bowling Green Business University, at Bowling Green, Ky.

Ain't Any Use.

The world is rolling on, methinks.

We waste good time in trying To make it roll like this or that, All common laws defying, Will disregard our darkest frown And laugh at us dejected, For the world has independent ways We've never yet suspected!

A little cradle snug and neat—
A little baby—pink and sweet.
A little child quite free from care
Who loves a little Teddy Bear.
And soon a little larger boy
Who scorns his former baby toy.
A little time for school or play,
Then lots of work for little pay.
A little joy—a little fret—
A little money, hard to get.
A little love that soon grows cold,
A little man worn out and old.
Then just a little box of clay,
Hid in the little earth away.

Best Medicine in The World for Colic And Diarrhoea.

"I find Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy to be the best remedy in the world," says Mr. C. L. Carter, of Skirum, Ala. "I am subject to colic and diarrhoea. Last spring it seemed as though I would die, and I think I would if I hadn't taken Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I haven't been troubled with it since until this week, when I had a very severe attack and took half a bottle of the twenty-five cent size Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and this morning I feel like a new man." What a Waterway Did.

In the May number of "Derrick's British Reports," standard authority on trade statistics in England, the story of the rise of Manchester from being tributary to Liverpool to the position of rival of Liverpool will be of the greatest interest to all enterprises of the Ohio Valley. Manchester was tributary until the Manchester Canal was opened but to-day, as the Report states it: "Steamers of 10,000 tons sail past the water front of Liverpool and discharge upon the wharves of Manchester."

Manchester, thirty-five miles from the sea is on the banks of the Irwell. It was an insignificant stream, but a stream with possibilities and Manchester never rested until she had convinced the authorities that the Irwell could be canaled its entire length of thirty-five miles and that the profit would not be alone to Manchester but to all England. The Government finally took up the work, expending in all fifteen million pounds sterling, the equivalent of $75,000,000, more than enough to canalize the Ohio its entire length and greatly in excess of any estimate of the cost of the work—and to-day ships of 10,000 tons sail past the water front of Liverpool and discharge at Manchester.

Prior to the open of the Canal in 1892—Manchester exports were sent overland to Liverpool and transshipped. It was a slow and expensive process which the Canal completely avoids, and the increase in Manchester exports not only justified expenditure on the Canal but they demonstrate that the Canal has been the prime factor in enabling England to compete with other Nations in the markets of the world. In 1895, three years after the opening of the Canal the Manchester exports of Yarn and Cloth, alone, were of the value of $354,035,160—an increase of $120,235,370 in ten years and greatly in excess of the cost of the Canal.

The lesson of the Manchester Canal is not alone in the increase of the trade of Manchester, nor in the impetus given to the trade of all England, but it is of value in the suggestion that what Manchester could impress on the British government, the enormous interests of the Ohio Valley can impress on the Congress by unity of action in pressing the just demand for the completion of the Nine Foot Stage at vastly less cost than the Canal which made Manchester the rival of Liverpool and increased the world commerce of England enormously.

R. ROBINSON.

A Suburban Lad.

A boy and a dog and a merry tune,
A raggedy cap and a face like June—
I met with them all in the early morn,
Enroute to the mill where the lambs are shorn.

I dreamed of them all as I sped along
Enroute to the town with its jumbled song,
And fresh on my lips was the gladsome tune—
The boy with the dog and the face like June!

And softly the smile that he smiled, I know,
Was wreathing my face in a happy glow;
And deep in my heart was the fragrant joy
Of him I had met—of the whistling boy.

A coppering boy with a yellow pop,
A raggedy cap and a buttercup—
Once was a boy on a country road with tunes and a tan and a dog like that!

Fancies.

An optimist—the man who pays his gas bill one day before it is due.

A Texas man dying recently, told his wife on his death bed that he hoped she would live to a ripe old age. I suppose the fellow knew what to expect when she joined him in death. It is a mean advantage to take of a pretty girl to give her a seat near a mirror and then expect her to pay attention to the music.

Found your first 1907 anemone petals yet?

Half the fun in playing cards, for a woman, is to trump her partner's ace.

Some men are not satisfied merely to be in the march of progress. They want to be the band and the man that rides ahead on the white horse.

Sideburns are always popular with young fellows who cannot grow anything more whiskery.

Why not bear pride and get rich? Pride always goes before a fall, doesn't it? If you don't understand this Wall street tip, take it to a board of trade man and get a diagram.

Many a man would like to trade a beautiful aircarfe for a very small piece of real estate.

A man who will slander the biscuits his mother used to make, just to win a girl who doesn't know anything about dough except to spend it, deserves to have dyspepsia for the rest of his life.

When the spider asked the fly to step into his parlor, I suppose he mis-spoke. He meant dining-room, didn't he?

There was a young poet named Erse. Who vowed he would live by his verse. He lasted from Monday—Until the next Sunday—And then took a ride in a hearse!

Most girls evidently believe that we grow to be like the things we eat. That, I suppose, is why they eat so much sweet.

When a man falls in love with a girl, he seems to forget that father and mother have been loving her for years and years—but the right kind of a girl never forgets this and never transfers all her love to the new comer in her affections.

Enough.

Did you see that palmed expression on our Emily's sweet face?

Did you note her look of anguish as she pushed up to her place?

No, it isn't grip or toothache, blotted love or hapless blues—

It is merely that our Emily is breaking her new shoes!

Wedding Ceremonies.

One picturesque scene in the Munda wedding ceremony is worth noticing. The bride goes to a stream or well near by with her pitcher, and, having filled it, raises it aloft on her head, steadying it with her hand. The bridegroom comes behind as she turns homeward, and, resting his hand on her shoulder, shoots an arrow along the path in front of her through the loophole formed by her uplifted arm. The bride then walks to where the arrow lies, and picks it up with her foot, still balancing the pitcher on her head. Transferring it gracefully to her hand, she restores it to the bridegroom, thus showing that she can perform her domestic duties well, with hand and foot, at his service. He, in turn, by shooting the arrow in front of her, has shown his ability to protect her and clear her path from any danger that may beset it.

No Feuds There.

The women of our town at last have met and got together.

They all were present and not one was left at home, forsaken.

The reason that we see them thus, all hooked as birds of feather,

Is this: The ladies met to have a big group picture taken!

WIN SUCCESS IN NURSING

The Best Paying Occupation-- Free Scholarships.

Nursing the sick is perhaps the most attractive field for the ambitious woman who would win success and make the most of life. It is a refined occupation. It gives skill to the hand and grace to the heart. It is the best paying occupation now open to women, and presents an ever-widening field of opportunity. The call for nurses is a world-wide call. It is the one calling that is not over-crowded.

The demand for skilled nurses increases with the years. Thousands of young women have the natural graces of the skilled nurse, but have never had a chance to cultivate them and so have been prevented from improving their own condition and blessing the race. But a new day has dawned. Large hearted philanthropists have opened wide the door of opportunity at the Philadelphia School for Nurses, 2219 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa. A Two Years' Free Course has been established at this Institution, wherein the student is provided with room-board, laundry, nurse uniforms, and all the refinements of a good home, with suitable training, instruction and actual nursing in the homes of the poor and among people of moderate income, and at the end of the Course the student's fare home is paid.

quate means of transportation, there is too often stagnation.

Judge Hall also states a fact which existed in 1836 and which every interest in the Ohio Valley knows exists today. He cites the fact that the old time carriage of goods from the seaboard over the Alleghenies to Pittsburgh cost the merchant $6 per 100 pounds while, as he says, "We have instances in the last five years of merchandise being delivered at the wharf of Cincinnati for $1 per 100 pounds from Philadelphia by way of New Orleans. That is to say $6 per 100 pounds for overland carriage of 550 miles and $1 per 100 pounds for a water-way carriage of over 2,500 miles. The same difference exists between railway rates and water rates today and will continue to exist in the Ohio river states until the completion of the Nine Foot Stage from Pittsburgh to Cairo. Whether by stage in the 50's or by rail today the tax of overland carriage of freight is a most grievous burden which the improved Ohio would remove.

Doctors Could Not Help Her.

"I had kidney trouble for years," writes Mrs. Raymond Conner of Shelton, Wash., "and the doctors could not help me. I tried Foley's Kidney Cure, and the very first dose gave me relief and I am now cured. I can not say too much for Foley's Kidney Cure." It makes the diseased kidneys sound so they will eliminate the poisons from the blood. Unless they do this, good health is impossible. Sold by J. H. Orme.

The Lord Loves a Cheerful Giver.

That the Lord loves a cheerful giver, nobody who believes in the Bible will deny. A stingy person may be full of good intentions, but it is an old saying that "the streets of hell are paved with good intentions"—good intentions that were withheld by selfishness. A fellow who continually indulges "pipe dreams" about how largely he intends to give when he acquired the fortune of Rockefeller, is wrong at heart. A dime given of your necessity is more precious in the sight of the Lord than a million given of your superfluity. With most of us life is largely made up of small things and if we neglect our opportunity to make small gifts and sacrifices, of our want or necessity, to help in the furtherance of a good cause, or to brighten the pathway and lighten the burden of some one more unfortunate than ourselves, or of those who by reason of kinship or otherwise it may be our duty to assist in "flagging over" the hard places, we are apt to come to our end without anything to our credit on the gift side of the line.

Choosing a Wife.

The vivacious lady who writes under the pseudonym of "Dorothy Dix" has turned from her task of instructing girls and women to bestow some good counsel upon young men who contemplate matrimony.

There is no better way, she says, to get a real line on the sort of a wife the girl will make than to go camping in her company. Matrimonial excursions ought to be conducted for the benefit of would-be Beneficiaries.

"If you find a girl who takes along sensible clothing, who always manages to look neat, who is always willing to lend a helping hand and do her part; who knows how to do things and get a einder out of an eye, or make a pan of biscuits or cut sandwiches; who does not get cross or sulky if the train is late, or a campfire won't burn or it happens to rain, but who on the contrary, is cheerful, full of expedients, and possesses the knack of making the best of things, then rest assured that you have found a pearl among women, who will make a wife that will enhance in value as the years go by, and who will cause you to bless the day that you led her to the alter."

Dorothy says it is easy enough to discover whether a girl will make a nagging wife or not. "If you see a girl who can never let any little thing rest, but who harps continually on a mistake or some offense, real or financial, know by this token that she is one of the foreordained husband baiters.

"Woe to the man who is taken by her pretty face, is indiscreet enough to marry her! She will taunt him forever with the money he has lost, the way he lent his overcoat to, the night he forgot to put the cat out, and every other sin of omission and commission in the calendar that he commits.

"If you wish to ascertain if you will be hen-pecked if you marry a certain girl, observe her in her own family.

"If she is the boss of her own home, rest assured that she will boss yours. If her father has to sit on the back porch to smoke his pipe you will never be permitted to realize your dreams of a quiet cigar by your hearthstone.

"If her mother begins every sentence with 'Mamie says' you will never be allowed an opinion of your own after you are Mamie's husband.

"If you see a girl who forces her poor old father to work himself to death to supply her heartless demands for chiflons, you have got as good a tintype as you need of the way you will have to lump yourself to buy her picture hats and lace coats that you cannot afford.

"If you see a girl that sits in the parlor reading novels while her tired mother washes the dishes in the kitchen, you have a living picture of the way you will have to get up and get breakfast and roll the perambulator while your wife indulges in nerves, if you are idiotic enough to marry her."

England's Historic Misers.

John Camden Neild, whose magnificent bequest to Queen Victoria supplied the funds out of which the prince consort built the present Balmoral castle, deserves a place among the great misers and was as remarkable a man as any of them. He was educated at Eton and Trinity college, Cambridge, and was a barrister at Lincoln's Inn. At the age of thirty-four his father's death placed him in possession of a fortune of £250,000, and from that moment he became a confirmed miser. Neild lived at 5 Cheyne walk, Chelsea. His big house was so meanly furnished that it did not even boast of a bed. Two old women, who did his chores, and a black cat were his sole companions. When he visited his large estates in the Midlands, which he did frequently, he generally walked unless he could get a lift for nothing, and he was not even above taking a gratuitous seat on a dung cart. Sometimes he was compelled by the weather to take a seat on the stagecoach, and there he would sit outside, shivering and dripping, for he never wore a greatcoat, an object of commiseration to his fellow passengers.

Lincoln's Rebuke.

The saying that there are few honest lawyers did not hold true in the case of Lincoln. A man once called to retain him on a suit.

"State your case," said honest Abe. "The man did, and then Lincoln said: "I cannot represent you, for you are wrong, and the other party is right."

"That is none of your business if I employ you," said the client.

"Pardon me," said the man who afterward became president; "my business is never to defend wrong. I never take a case that is manifestly wrong."

"Well, but you can make trouble for the other fellow."

"Yes," said Lincoln, "I can set a whole community at loggerheads, I can make trouble for this widow and her fatherless children and by so doing get $500 that rightfully belongs to her, but I won't do it."

"Not if I pay you well?"

"Not for all the money you are worth," was the reply.

A Warrior Too.

The wooden boards that had marked the graves in a certain rural cemetery rotted off and were raked up in the spring cleaning. Consequently on Memorial day when the delegation from the G. A. R. arrived with flags and appropriate floral decorations for their departed comrades the decorating committee found itself somewhat in doubt as to which grave belonged to Captain Blodgett and which to Hannah Erdeson. The mistaken delegates heaped their offerings upon Hannah's fast resting place and departed. That afternoon Erdeson, the widower, drifted, with the rest of his world, to the cemetery. When he saw the flag and the flowers above Hannah the astonished Swede fell to chuckling joyously.

"Well," he exclaimed delightedly, "dose faller hanooty smart too! Ay tank dat vor all right and som gude yoke on Hannah—he vor yooty gude fighter herself!"—Youth's Companion.

Devonshire Terrace.

Dickens was twenty-seven years old when, in 1830, he moved from Doughty street to Devonshire terrace. George du Maurier lived for some years in 1 Devonshire terrace. In this celebrated house Dickens wrote no fewer than ten of his books—"The Old Curiosity Shop," "Barnaby Rudge," "The Christmas Carol," "American Notes," "Martin Chuzzlewit," "The Haunted Man," "The Battle of Life," "Domby and Son," "The Cricket on the Hearth" and "David Copperfield." Devonshire terrace was situated at the corner of the Marylebone road and used to be called the smallest terrace in London.

IT VARIED.

The late Judge Saunders of North Carolina was noted as an angler, but he had a poor memory as to the weight of the fish he had taken. On one occasion a friend, trying to entrap him, said, "Say, Judge, what was the weight of that big catfish you caught the other day?" The judge turned to his waiter and said, "Bob, what did I say that catfish weighed?"

"What time yesterday, boss—in de mawnin', at dinner or after supper?"

The Moon.

Astronomers long since came to the conclusion that the moon's surface is very hot during the height of the lunar day, which, as will be remembered, lasts two weeks, and very cold during the lunar night, which is equally long. These extremes of temperature reach their height at the lunar noon and midnight and are greater than any natural temperatures on the earth.

OUR TROUBLES.

They Are of Three General Kinds and There is a Remedy.

Troubles are of three different kinds:

The troubles you have had.

The troubles you are looking for.

The first of these three kinds of trouble will not press heavily upon the philosophical mind. It is a closed incident, and on the principle that pains and perils through which we have come to safety are negatively pleasant memories, we ought to extract the semblance of happiness from the troubles we have had and disposed of.

Remorseless dwelling on what is done forever is a mistake of fools.

The common sense of the situation resides only in casting out of mind the regrettable act of circumstance and turning to the present with a determined spirit that will fight for its own—for the right to happiness now and here, in this tangible instant that we call time present.

As to the second class, there is a fact in nature to the point. The nettle is armed with the most penetrating of needle pointed thorns, but they are formidable only to the timid and hesitating. Approach the plant without apprehensiveness of "trouble," seize it boldly and defiantly with a strong clutch, and the prickles that draw blood on the weak knee or the weak handed will take on a velvety caress.

The lesson is obvious. The trouble that is now trying to swamp you will loosen its hold on your spirit and take it to its heels if you but turn on it. "The eye of childhood ever fears a pointed devil." The very devil himself cunningly contrives not to materialize.

The trouble you are looking for need not dismay you. If you go out in the morning resolved on finding it, even if you have to fight for it, the likelihood is that some time during the day it will take on a form that you will recognize.

But that will be largely your own lookout. There are men that resent insult before it is offered. You will metaphorically see them suspiciously and belligerently peering around a corner to discover who it is that is presently to come along and offer some indignity.

A sense of personal injury has possession of them, though it you appeal to them for a reason or for a fact or an act in support of their indictment to somebody—anybody—they are necessarily dumb. The whole thing is but a monstrous birth of their imagination.

The trouble you are looking for will never trouble you if you stop looking for it—Exchange.

The Secret of Good Health.

The doctor took off his nose glasses, looked through them at the window, fished out a piece of camomile skin and began polishing them.

"The trouble with most people," he began as he rubbed harder at a particularly stubborn spot, "is that when they get up in the morning feeling well they say: 'My, I'm in fine shape this morning! I feel as if I could eat most any old thing.' And then they proceed to do so. Before night they say: 'I felt so well this morning, and now I feel so terribly worn out and tired. I believe it's a bad omen to get up in the morning feeling so fine.' If the idiots would only eat nothing at all or very sparingly of something dainty and nourishing they could preserve their feeling of elation till considerably later in the day. The very moment," the doctor concluded as he placed his glasses where they belonged, "that the human digestive apparatus begins to be cheerful over a good rest and to believe that its owner has some sense after all, the aforesaid owner thinks he is starving and thereupon stuns it with a load of indigestible garbage."—Chicago News.

Grass Snakes.

The somewhat natural prejudice which exists against vipers is extended, unfortunately—though not, perhaps, unnaturally—to everything resembling a snake, and on this account the common grass snake is often needlessly destroyed. It is perfectly harmless and in its fresh grayish green skin is quite unmistakable, yet if suddenly encountered in a hedgerow or issuing from a ditch death is generally its portion.

The way in which, on its own account, it deals death to frogs is somewhat awful in the denouement. The victim, seeming to realize the hopelessness of any attempt to escape, becomes literally paralyzed with fright and, leaping with unfeebled power, is soon seized by a hinder leg and drawn into the jaws of the enemy.

The adder's method of feeding is similar, but death is more speedy from the wound inflicted by its tubular teeth. The grass snake altogether lacks these teeth and swallows its prey alive. A frog has been heard to scream after being entombed.—London Times.

A Noted Bassoon's Egotism.

Once in London were four great bassoonists singing at the same time, Lablache, Marin, Staudigl and Karl Formes. Fashionable opinion was undecided as to which of the four was the greatest, and finally the members of a leading club determined to have the quartet of singers interviewed separately by one of the members to find out to whom each of the singers awarded the palm of being the greatest basso then in London.

Staudigl answered promptly and truthfully, "Lablache is the best."

Marin replied, "I will not say who is the first basso, but I am sure Lablache is the second."

Lablache modestly responded, "If Staudigl were not here, I certainly would claim the lead."

Formes without hesitation instantly said, "The greatest basso, sir—that's me, Karl Formes."
